San Francisco, CA – May 7, 2007 – The San Francisco Council of Supply Chain Management Professionals (CSCMP) congratulates its President, Sergio Retamal, for achieving top ranking in Supply & Demand Chain Executive Magazine’s recently released ‘2007 Provider Pros to Know.’

Sergio’s leadership of CSCMP’s San Francisco Roundtable has been instrumental to CSCMP’s regional revitalization. The Board of Directors team wishes him well as he completes his term as President, at this month’s finale event, the Collaborative Banquet. “This year’s Provider Pros to Know have shown themselves to be thought-leaders...,” said the editor of S&DCE. “Their efforts in developing the tools and processes necessary for supply chain transformation, and in promoting new approaches to supply chain enablement, are helping raise Supply Chain’s status within the enterprise and have earned them a place on this year’s Provider Pros listing.”

Sergio Retamal has led global logistics for a number of Fortune 100 companies and been widely recognized for his achievements: He is founder and President of Global-4PL (www.global-4pl.com), which was named by Supply & Demand Chain Executive as one of the Top 16 Companies to Watch in 2006; he was awarded the 2005 Executive of the Year by the International Transportation Association.

Sergio Retamal also serves on the Board of Directors of the Bay Area World Trade Center, has taught Global Operations Management and Modern Management at California State University, served on the Board of Directors for Cal State’s logistics management program, holds a bachelor of science and a master’s in business administration in international business from California State University and a master’s degree in change management from Pepperdine University’s Graziadio School of Business.
